

State of the Effects of Daniel Webster's at

Table with columns: Article, Purchaser, Price paid. Lists various goods like tea, sugar, and other commodities with their respective prices and buyers.

OUR LONDON AND PARIS CORRESPONDENCE.

THE TURKISH QUESTION. Our London Correspondence. LONDON, March 1, 1853. The Turkish Difficulty Adjusted—The Porte complying with the Demands of Austria—Encampment of Twenty-five Thousand Soldiers around London—French Steamers Sounding the Port of Exmouth—Demand of the Austrian Government for the Expulsion of Refugees—Removal of English Sailors by the Austrian Authorities—Gold from Australia—Fresh Gold Mines Discovered—Theatrical Chit-Chat—The Army Estimates—Anticipation of a Foreign Invasion. Wonders sure will never cease! By submarine and European telegraph, we learn the settlement of the Turkish question. The news is dated Vienna, Feb. 26, evening.

OUR PARIS CORRESPONDENCE.

Paris, March 3, 1853. Anniversary of the Revolution of 1848—Arrest of Republican Leaders—Rumors on the Bourne and Temporary Derogation of the Funds—The Emperor and his Financial Budget—Refusal of Representatives to Swear Allegiance—Summer Tour of the Emperor and Empress—Expected Arrival of the Pope in Paris—Decree Respecting the Press—Spanish and Italian Politics—Mazzini and Kossuth—Arrest of English Sailors at Lephorn—The Insurrection in Montenegro—The Hon. Caleb Lyon in Paris, &c. It is reported that the alienation of "London Assurance" "Alma Mater" "I love in a Maze" &c. &c. is likely to be engaged for the leading business at the Theatre Royal, Haymarket, in Mr. Bookstone's forthcoming campaign.

THE TROUBLE BETWEEN KOSKUTH AND MAZZINI.

THE TROUBLE BETWEEN KOSKUTH AND MAZZINI. To CAPTAIN J. H. KENNEDY-PARK TERRELL, Nottingham. My Dear Sir—I thank you very much for having drawn my attention to the letter of Mazzini published in the Standard, and for the kind notice which you have done me under my name, as, unfortunately, I cannot remember to read the newspaper. You are quite right in supposing that there may be some persons who will be willing to see a hearty and open discussion of the Italian question, and that it is a matter of course that I should be prepared to do so. I have written two years ago (though I could not have been in order to do so without my consent) that I had published it as an evidence that I am for fraternity between Italy and Hungary, and that I am for the moral responsibility of the Hungarians to the Italian people. I have written two years ago (though I could not have been in order to do so without my consent) that I had published it as an evidence that I am for fraternity between Italy and Hungary, and that I am for the moral responsibility of the Hungarians to the Italian people.

AMERICANS IN PARIS.

AMERICANS IN PARIS. W. H. Bennett, New York. J. A. Barnard, Hudson. S. L. Robinson, New York. R. C. Kellogg, New York. J. J. Keller, New York. Mr. H. Maxwell, do. A. Foster, do. Mr. J. B. Barber, do. W. E. Johnston, do. J. G. Scovel, do. C. L. Arnold, New York. J. W. Ireland, do. C. R. Leggett, do. S. B. Knapp, do. J. W. Tucker and family, do. D. Huntington, New York. A. Van Bergen, do. G. D. C. Johnson, New York. W. H. B. Smith, New York. J. K. Smith, New York. W. D. Wells, New York. Miss C. G. Lewis, do. H. H. Rathbone, Albany. The President of the United States assumes, this day, the supreme power in that great commonwealth, and enters upon the duties of the office which he was elected in December last by a large majority of his fellow citizens in almost every State of the Union. No man has so long and so nobly discharged the duties of the office of President of the United States as the late Mr. Polk. His administration was marked by a high public career under circumstances most favorable to the honor of the Republic. He has left his country in a state of universal peace and unexampled prosperity. No question of immediate interest or urgent necessity has arisen during his administration. He has maintained the integrity of the Union, which has hitherto been unbroken since the commencement of the Republic. He has borne himself from a comparatively obscure position to the highest eminence in the public eye, and has done so at once to the credit of his country and to the honor of his country.

THE TROUBLE BETWEEN KOSKUTH AND MAZZINI.

THE TROUBLE BETWEEN KOSKUTH AND MAZZINI. To CAPTAIN J. H. KENNEDY-PARK TERRELL, Nottingham. My Dear Sir—I thank you very much for having drawn my attention to the letter of Mazzini published in the Standard, and for the kind notice which you have done me under my name, as, unfortunately, I cannot remember to read the newspaper. You are quite right in supposing that there may be some persons who will be willing to see a hearty and open discussion of the Italian question, and that it is a matter of course that I should be prepared to do so. I have written two years ago (though I could not have been in order to do so without my consent) that I had published it as an evidence that I am for fraternity between Italy and Hungary, and that I am for the moral responsibility of the Hungarians to the Italian people. I have written two years ago (though I could not have been in order to do so without my consent) that I had published it as an evidence that I am for fraternity between Italy and Hungary, and that I am for the moral responsibility of the Hungarians to the Italian people.